How to Succeed.

This is the great problem of life which few satisfactorily solve. Some fail because of poor health, others want of luck, but the majority from deficient grit, want of nerve. They are nervous, irresolute, changeable, easily get the blues and "take the spirits down to keep the spirits up," thus wasting money, time, opportunity and nerve force. There is nothing like the Restorative Nervine, discovered by the great specialist, Dr. Miles, to cure all nervous diseases, as headache, the blues, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, fits, and hysteria. Trial bottles and fine book of testimonials free at J. W. Gayle's.

W. L. Coppersmith challenges comparison in workmanship on any repairs in his line. 234 St. Clair street. 45-ly.

Shenandoah.

The reason "Shenandoah" will draw a crowded house at the Opera House, Wednesday night, October 20, is that its every line and situation is full of real human interest. Its story, while not being dramatically "powerful" is one that thrills every beholder. There is nothing so stirring to the blood, nothing that so arouses the average man as the sound of martial music, the boom of cannon, and the rattle of musketry. Thus, when we see our boys in blue retreating with broken ranks across the valley of the Shenandoah, and Sheridan twenty miles away, who is there among us that does not feel like springing from his seat and crying, "Charge boys, charge On, comrades, on!" and rush into the fray as the gallant Colonel West rushed in, with his wounds yet unhealed and his strength not yet returned. A man is not half a man who does not feel the warfare rise high within him when he witnesses a scene like that. Then we emerge from the convention, all lethargic of our day and feel akin to heroes; feel that for our country we would do and dare and die.

Peak's Mill.

Mrs. John P. Williams is on a visit to friends in Bath county.

Mr. John Pierce sold his farm to John Scott for $5,000 cash.

The residence of Richard Hall was destroyed by fire Sunday night. No insurance.

Mr. James Green and Miss Mary E. McDaniel, Mr. Benjamin Green and Miss Mollie McCurdy, were married last Thursday evening, at Camp Pleasant school-house, the Rev. W. H. Clark officiating.

Mr. John Green left Monday for Seymour, Indiana, where he was summoned by telegram to the bedside of his sister, Mrs. Lemmie Eagin, who was thought to be dying.

Misses Laura and Katie Poindexter have returned home from a visit to friends and relatives at Switzer.

A Fatal Mistake.

Physicians make no more fatal mistake than when they inform patients that nervous heart troubles come from the stomach and are of little consequence. Dr. Franklin Miles, the noted Indiana specialist, has proven the contrary in his new book on "Heart Disease," which may be had free at J. W. Gayle's who guarantees and recommends Dr. Miles' unequalled New Heart Cure, which has the largest sale of any heart remedy in the world. It cures nervous and organic heart disease, short breath, fluttering, palp or tenderness in the side, arm or shoulder, irregular pulse, fainting, smothering, drooping, etc. His Restorative Nervine cures headache, fits, etc.

Educational.

The following is an extract from the minutes of the meeting of the State Board of Education, held October 2d and 3d. It indicates that an effort will be made to lead the people to examine and discuss certain matters having an important bearing on the public schools: "Some time was occupied in a presentation and discussion of the Superintendent's policy to consult the people through the various channels of County Superintendents, Trustees and other individuals favorable to educational progress, and through the State Press, as to the wants of the people of Kentucky touching—

1. The law relative to school-book supplies.

2. The propriety of establishing a Normal Institute in every county, to be held four or five weeks each year, under licensed instructors, to insure to the Common Schools an adequate supply of professional, ambitious and capable teachers.

3. The restoration of the county as a unit of taxation for local aid to the Common Schools.

4. The increase of the Common School term, and how this can be accomplished.

5. The building and furnishing of school-houses of sufficient size and otherwise adapted to the requirements of a progressive and live teachers.

6. Uniform laws for schools (reporting to the State office) in cities of the various classes.

7. The prevention of nepotism and favoritism in the selection of teachers, by which efficiency is often sacrificed to partiality.

The members present all heartily concurred in Chairman Thompson's plan of formulating the propositions and laying them before the people in the manner suggested."

Boreas Outdone.

Realism on the stage is the order of the day, and it has reached the acme of perfection in the blizzard scene as depicted in the five act drama, the "Hand of Fate." The scene represents a lonely hut on the trackless prairie of Kansas near a railroad station. The sky is overcast, the ominous moan of the wintry wind is heard, denoting the approach of a blizzard, a few scattered flakes of snow are falling. Suddenly, in the very sight of the audience, the scene changes as if touched with a magic wand. The landscape is covered as with a snowy mantle and the stage is enveloped with blinding clouds of the flaky crystals eddying before the wintry blast.—Herald.

Another child killed by the use of opiates given in the form of Soothing Syrup. Why mothers give their children such deadly poisons is surprising, when they can relieve the child of its peculiar troubles by using Dr. Achter's Baby Soother. It contains no opium or morphine. ## Forks of Elkhorn.

Rev. John Burdin and wife have been severely stricken recently. On the 28th of September their son, Horace C., died, after a protracted illness, and since then another son, Frank, has been attacked with St. Vitus dance.

The } Shows that epidemic, en-system. It being a well settled fact that any remedy which would kill the germ or microbe would destroy the life of the patient, it has been found that to force out these germs is the only safe relief from their ravages.

In this way Swift's Specific has for 60 years been curing blood and skin diseases. It forces out the microbes through the pores of the skin, and soon sends out the poison which they have left. In this way the disease is cured, and the general health of the patient is built up.

WAR DEPARTMENT.

WASHINGTON CITY,

Sept. 8th, 1891.

To the City of Frankfort, in the State of Kentucky:

WHEREAS, The Acting Secretary of War has good reason to believe that the bridge of the City of Frankfort and of the county of Franklin, in the State of Kentucky, over the Kentucky river at Frankfort, Kentucky, is an unreasonable obstruction to the free navigation of said river (which is one of the navigable waters of the United States) on account of the narrowness of the bridge, the length of the bridge being of insufficient length, and the bridge being of insufficient height to admit of steamboats and other water craft passing it with safety.

AND, WHEREAS, The following alteration will render navigation under it reasonably free, easy, and unobstructed, to-wit:

To raise said bridge to a clear height of forty-eight feet and four inches above the normal level of Pool 4, of the Kentucky river, and to provide it with a channel span having a clear water-way of not less than one hundred and fifty feet at normal pool level.

AND, WHEREAS, To the first day of September, 1892, is a reasonable time in which to alter the said bridge as described above.

Now, THEREFORE, In obedience to, and by virtue of, the fourth and fifth sections of an act of the Congress of the United States entitled "An act making appropriations for the construction, repair, and preservation of certain public works on rivers and harbors, and for other purposes," approved September 19, 1890, I, L. A. Grant, Acting Secretary of War, do hereby notify the said City of Frankfort to alter the said bridge as described above, and prescribe that said alteration shall be made and completed on or before the first day of September, 1892.

Acting Secretary of War.

A petition having been resolved in relation to the crossing leading from the State National Bank across Buffalo alley to Collins' hardware store, it was referred to the street committee with power to act.

The tax books for the year of 1891 were ordered listed in the hands of City Marshal Williams for collection.

City Clerk Payne was ordered to draw his warrant for $20, each month, in favor of Joe Burkhardt, for rent of West End school-room.

City Clerk Payne was ordered to make out a bill against Franklin county for repairs on wooden bridge.

It appears that the county agreed to pay one third of the expenses incurred in repairing the structure, but failed to do so. Hence this action.

The council appointed a committee of three, composed of Councilmen Day, Darnell and Payne, to confer with the authorities of Kentucky cities of the same denomination as Frankfort in order to bring about unanimous action as to how such cities shall be classed under the new Constitution.

After allowing sundry monthly accounts the council adjourned.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

Published at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky, on second-class mail matter.

4320. A. LEWIS, Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, OCT. 17, 1891.

General Retuser.

Adjutant General Gross on Wednesday refused to allow the claims of the officers and men of the Second Regiment Kentucky State Guard, for pay while in camp in Bellepoint on the 26th of August to the 2d of September, assigned as a reason that they were not ordered into active service. He should now swing his refusing machine around and decline to receive pay for his own services, in order to even the scales. It is easy enough for the Adjutant General to find a pretext for declining to pay the bill, but it is rather hard on the young men who left their homes and business, in obedience to the orders of Gov. Buckner and Adjutant General Hill, to come to this city and spend a week in camp.

They were in active service, whether the order calling them here so stated or not, and they should be paid for their time. This thing of splitting hairs to avoid paying the boys may make cheap political capital, but it is not calculated to make enthusiastic soldiers out of the State militia.

Killing Near Elmville.

On Saturday Dr. J. L. Masie, who lives near Elmville, this county, and is a practicing physician in that neighborhood, armed himself with a Winchester rifle and went to the house of Jesse Honaker, a neighbor, and inquired for him; upon being informed by Honaker's wife that he was not at home, the Doctor informed her that she would never see her husband alive again and rode away. About a mile from the house he met Honaker, with his brother-in-law, walking along the road. When the Doctor rode up he said to Honaker, "you have been lying about me and I intend to tell you now." Honaker replied that he had said nothing and could prove it, and his brother-in-law begged the Doctor not to shoot as Honaker was unarmed, but Masie leveled his gun and fired, killing Honaker instantly. After the killing Masie rode off in the direction of this city and has not since been apprehended. A woman is said to be the cause of the trouble.

Finger Cut Off.

While working at an planing machine at his mill on east Main street last Monday morning, Mr. Allen Tharp had the third finger and end of the fore finger of his right hand taken off. At the time of the accident he was talking to a visitor near by, and the piece of timber he was working on slipped, throwing the hand upon the revolving blades. He was immediately taken home where his wounded hand was dressed by Dr. Hume. Mr. Tharp purchased the planing mill and wood-working establishment from Messrs. J. B. Hamilton & Co. about two months ago. This is the first accident occurring in the mill since he took possession. At last report he was getting along nicely, though it will be some time before he will be able to resume work.

Thrown from a Buggy.

Saturday afternoon Dr. E. M. Guber and Mr. Landon Taylor were coming across the St. Clair street bridge in the Doctor's buggy, and when near the north end of the bridge the horse began to run and kick. Mr. Taylor was thrown out at the corner of Wapping and St. Clair and Dr. Guber met with a similar fate a little further down Wapping, but fortunately both gentlemen escaped with a few bruises. Parties came out of the Post Office about that time, ran the horse up against the fence near the Catholic Church and stopped him.

A Fearless Judge.

In speaking of the Polk Betting case at the recent race meeting at the Latonia Course, the Cincinnati Commercial has this to say of one of our courtmen:

What the meeting needed was a capable presiding judge to be in the stand all the time. L. P. Tarlton was the presiding judge during a portion of the meeting, and he gave satisfaction both in placing the winning horse and in watching the actions of some of the smart jockeys. Mr. Tarlton is a fearless man and dealt out justice without favor. He was not in the stand all the time, however, and there was trouble of some kind nearly every day when he was not.

Shoulder Dislocated.

Mr. Julian Jackson, of this city, who has been employed for some time with a detachment of the engineer corps of the L. & N. Railroad in locating and marking the center line of the road bed from Cincinnati to LaGrange, attempted to alight from a moving freight train at Turner's Station, on Friday, fell and dislocated his left shoulder. He came home that night and has been laid off since on account of the injury.

Another Runaway.

The driver of the delivery wagon of the Frankfort Brewing Co. left his team standing in front of the Capital Hotel Monday afternoon, when the horses ran away. They dashed down Main to St. Clair and in attempting to turn toward the bridge, ran against the office building of Messrs. D. W. & John B. Lindsay. The pole of the wagon struck the wall, was broken off, both horses were thrown down, and after being unhitched and gotten upon their feet neither one was found to be injured. In their race down the street they narrowly missed running into several vehicles. One lady sitting in her buggy was likely to strike the buggy, flourished her whip vigorously in their faces which caused them to swerve to the right and prevent a collision.

His loss is about $1,000; insurance $800.

Persons who desire his services should leave their names with Prof. E. A. Fellmer, at the office of the Geological Survey.

A Little Fatherly Advice.

"If ever you marry," said an old gentleman to his son, "let it be a woman who has judgment enough to superintend the getting of a meal, taste enough to dress herself, pride enough to wash her face, and sense enough to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, whenever she needs it." The experience of the aged has shown the "Favorite Prescription" to be the best for the cure of all female weaknesses and derangements. Good sense is shown by getting the remedy from your druggist, and using it whenever you feel weak and debilitated. It will invigorate and cannot possibly do harm.

Good Likenesses.

Mr. Z. T. Thomason has displayed in the window of his store on St. Clair street a lithograph advertisement of John G. Roach's whisky which is quite a showy affair. It represents Senators Carlisle and Blackburn and Ex-Gov. Knott, with Mr. Roach, seated at a table on the veranda of the club house of a race course discussing the merits of the latter gentleman's liquor while a running race is taking place upon the track before them. The likenesses of the gentlemen in the picture are first class and the advertisement a very attractive one.

Death of Mrs. Bradley.

Mrs. Mary Hannah Bradley, wife of Thos. Bradley, Esq., and daughter of Mr. John M. Todd, formerly of this city, died Friday night at St. Mary and Episcopal Hospital, in Louisville, from the effects of a surgical operation. She leaves one son, a devoted husband, father, mother and sister to mourn her loss.

Being fully aware that the chances were against her, she quietly made preparation for death before submitting to the surgeon's knife, and afterward, when it became evident that she could not survive, with a Christian's faith she calmly awaited the final dissolution, welcoming the coming of the dread messenger as a sweet relief from intense suffering. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon from the residence of her parents, and the remains were laid to rest in Cave Hill Cemetery.

LINES

In memory of Willie Robinson, who died Sept. 30, 1891, aged 12 years, 3 months and 31 days.

Stricken parents grieve no more.

A life to you is given;

A portion kept by angels' tread—

To bind your hearts to heaven.

Then weep no more over the mound

You have planted with a lowly flower;

For the one loved best is not there,

But blossoms in heavenly bowers.

Though you miss his beaming step,

Like his laughter's ring,

Miss him daily in your house,

Miss his prayer at night.

Know that God has loved you best

To take your treasure home;

To keep it safely in his love—

For he will keep it close.

Call not back the dear departed—

At the sad side where worms are o'er;

On the border land we left him,

Soon to meet and part no more.

Alas, lovely flower, how soon it fell—

Ere half its bloom was given;

Thus your loved one is in death closed,

But his sleepers to awake in Heaven. A. M. T.

A Card to the Public.

Being unable, on account of sickness, to attend to the wants of my customers in a manner that I would like to do, especially in my repair department, where a great deal of work has accumulated since I have been sick, and before my customers having been patient in leaving their work until I was able to give it my attention, I feel under obligations to my friends for the courtesy they have shown me in that much, and fearing that I might further disappoint, I have secured the services of Capt. W. G. Thompson, an old time watchmaker, to help me in my present emergency. Mr. Thompson worked at the business in Frankfort for many years and he needs no introduction in his new position. Mr. Thompson met with a misfortune that has crippled him for life by losing almost the entire use of one leg. I invite the attention of Mr. Thompson's friends, seeing his condition, to encourage him in his new position by entrusting to his care a liberal share of their patronage, so that I may be enabled to give him steady employment.

The public can rest assured that their work is in the hands of a competent workman, whose sole aim is to please, and charges will be as reasonable as we can possibly do first-class work for. Thanking my friends and customers for past favors and asking a further continuance of the same, I remain, Yours respectfully,

W. L. COPPERSMITH.

To My Friends.

The Proof of the Pudding.

Have you humors, causing blotches? Does your blood run thick and sluggish? Are you drowsy, dull and languid? Is a bad taste in your mouth, and is your tongue all farred and coated? Do you feel down hearted, dismal, Dreading something, what, you know not?

Then be very sure you're bilious— That you have a torpid liver, and what you need is something to rouse it and make it active enough to throw off the impurities that clog it; something to invigorate the debilitated system, and help all the organs to perform the duties expected of them, promptly and energetically. That "something" is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great Blood Purifier, which its proprietors have such faith in that they guarantee it to cure. If it does not, your money will be refunded. But it will buy it, try it, and be convinced of its wonderful power. If the proof of the pudding is in the eating, the proof of this remedy is in the taking.

John S. Edwards,

Of Adams, N. Y., makes the following sworn statement: Kenyon & Thomas: This is to certify what I know your wonderful medicine, Dr. Hale's Household Ointment, will do in cases of pneumonia. Last winter my mother, who is 76 years of age, was sick unto death with pneumonia. Both lungs were badly involved. The attending physician said she must die. As a last resort we commenced using your Dr. Hale's Household Ointment, applying it freely and thoroughly to the chest, keeping the lungs covered with hot liniment. She soon began to improve and in twelve hours the crisis was passed and she was out of danger and is alive and well to-day. Your great remedy saved her life.

JOHN S. EDWARDS.

The City's Ordinance to License Drummers Unconstitutional.

The defendant being brought before Esquire McDonald upon a warrant charging him with selling goods by sample without license, the court rendered the following judgment in the case, viz:

This proceeding arises upon a warrant issued by the city of Frankfort against L. LaRouque, charging him with selling goods and merchandises, at retail, within the city limits, without first having obtained a license therefor. The city ordinance classifies the business for which license shall be required, and graduates the amount to be paid for license from $10 to $250 per year, and fixes a penalty of from $50 to $100 for violation of the ordinance. The evidence is, that the accused is a citizen of the State of Ohio; that he represents an incorporated firm located and doing business in the city of Boston, Massachusetts, under the name of Plymouth Rock Piano Company; that his business is selling suits of clothing by sample, for which he takes measurements and sends the orders through a branch agency in Louisville, Ky., to Boston, where the goods are made up and sent to the customer. He receives no payment on the goods so sold, except a deposit of from one dollar to five dollars, as a guarantee against loss for expense of shipment, in case the customer refuses to receive the goods and pay the company the stipulated price.

On this state of fact the question is whether this ordinance is in conflict with section 8 of the Federal Constitution, which provides that Congress shall have power "to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes." By this provision the regulation of commerce is unquestionably vested exclusively in Congress. Then the inquiry is: Does the ordinance, in effect, undertake to regulate commerce between the States, and is therefore void? I am of opinion that the ordinance is void, and that the Federal Courts have repeatedly and explicitly so decided. The following cases appear to fully cover the question presented, and to determine the invalidity of the ordinance upon which the warrant is based: 41 Federal Reporter, 775, in re Kimmel; 43 Federal Reporter, 913, in re White; 44 Federal Reporter, 276, in re Gooch; 45 Federal Reporter, 3, Spelman v. City of New Orleans; 140 U. S., 8, Robbins v. Taxing District; 120 U. S., 3, Carson v. State of Maryland; 128 U. S., 4, Asher v. State of Texas.

The facts in the case of in re Kimmel, 41 Federal Reporter, 775 (District Court of the United States for the District of Minnesota), are that Kimmel, being a citizen of Nebraska, selling goods by sample in the town of Austin, Minnesota, which goods were to be shipped from Kimmel's place of residence in Nebraska to the purchaser in Austin, Minnesota, was arrested on warrant charging him with so selling without first having obtained license from the town of Austin to do so. The town ordinance provided that any person, "going from house to house and selling by sample at retail," without first having obtained license therefor, should be punished by fine and imprisonment. The court held that the ordinance was void because in conflict with the commercial clause of the Federal Constitution.

In the case of in re White, 43 Federal Reporter, 913, the opinion and the facts upon which the opinion is based may be thus stated: The borough ordinance of Union City, Pa., requiring all persons canvassing from house to house for the purpose of selling books, or soliciting orders therefrom from the general public, to take out license and to pay to the borough a fee for doing such business, in so far as it touches a citizen of another State, who, as the agent of a person engaged in the book trade in such other State, simply so canvassed and took orders for the sale of a book, to be sent to and filled by his principal, is a regulation of commerce among the States, and is void.

The facts in the case in re Gooch, 44 Federal Reporter, 276, are: Gooch, an agent for Armour & Co., of Chicago, Ill., sold, in Minnesota, oleomargarine which was to be shipped in original packages from Chicago, Ill., to the purchaser in Minnesota. The law of Minnesota forbids the sale of oleomargarine within the State, whether manufactured in or out of the State. The court held the Minnesota law unconstitutional and void, because in conflict with the commercial clause of the Federal Constitution.

In Spelman v. The City of New Orleans, 45 Federal Reporter, 3, it was held that a city ordinance forbidding the sale of fruit on the platform of a railroad company, when the fruit was principally shipped from another State, was in violation of the commercial clause of the Federal Constitution, and therefore unconstitutional and void.

In Robbins v. Taxing District, 120 U. S., 8, it was held that a State cannot levy a license tax, or impose any other restriction upon the citizens or inhabitants of other States for selling or seeking to sell their goods in such State before they are introduced there; that the regulation of sales of goods which are in another State for the purpose of introducing them into the State in which the negotiation is made, is interstate-commerce, and that such commerce is not subject to State taxation, even though there be no discrimination between it and domestic commerce.

To the same effect is the case of Carson v. State of Maryland, 120 U. S., 3, which cites and approves the Robbins case above cited.

In the case of Asher v. The State of Texas, the Legislature of Texas enacted that every commercial traveler, drummer, salesman or solicitor of trade by sample should pay an annual tax of thirty-five dollars. Asher representing a house in New Orleans, La., sold in Houston, Texas, goods by sample, and was fined for not obtaining license to sell as required by the ordinance of the city of Houston. The court held that the ordinance requiring a license for such sales was in violation of the commercial clause of the Federal Constitution and therefore void.

Wherefore the warrant is dismissed, and the defendant is discharged from custody.

And still they kick. Poor old fogies, how the constitution of progress does hurt them. It's no use, boys; just come in and help to roll the wheels. It is the law of the land and you can't help it. The people accept it and so must you.

Beef is as high as usual, fat cattle are plentiful and very low, and yet there are but few sales. What's the matter with the butchers?

It is pleasant to know that Major McKinley refuses to countenance any personal attack upon Gov. Campbell. All the honorable politicians are not dead yet, even in Ohio.

Is there not too great a disposition on the part of the papers to give place to base ball, horse races, society news, &c., to the exclusion of commercial and political affairs?

With shame be it written, so common has it become for breeders to palisade pedigree that horsemen from a distance are almost afraid to bid on Kentucky horses. Think of one station presenting at one sale two hundred yearling colts for sale. If Kentucky is to remain the proud mistress of home market, our breeders must do better than this, though we must admit that two hundred colts in one season is quite a record for one horse.

We step down and out with with a bow to "Unah" and transfer our headquarters to Ducker, where we may usually be found. It is no new thing for the aged chiefs of the red man to change their hunting grounds, and so with
